

SUGGESTS CHRIST AS REMEDY FOR ALL SOCIAL EVILS

Rev. Mr. Ford Holds That Governmental Machinery Alone Cannot Better Conditions—Honeywell Speaks.

"Through the present governmental machinery alone, conditions will now be made much better. The social, economic, and political questions of the day will not be greatly improved until there is a turning of the people, toward God," said Rev. Charles E. Ford in his sermon at the River Park M. E. church, Sunday morning.

Rev. Mr. Ford was using the subject, "The Church and the Working Man," for his sermon. "Some think that Jesus has nothing to say about the social and economic questions of today," said he. "His whole life message was to liberate and save humanity."

"It was His teaching that made it impossible for one man to own another man as a man now owns a dog. The books of Jeremiah, Isaiah, Amos, Hosea and other prophets, contain the voice of God crying out against social, political and economic conditions at that time."

"The church of today is often judged out of facts dating centuries ago, and has no power to dictate even to the members."

"The working men represent the vast multitude on which Christ looked with compassion, not with fear but with fellow feeling. The church stands for the organization of the laboring men and its purpose to protect him from the soulless corporations."

"It seems madness to even question the divinity of American syndicates, but the clock in the chamber of omnipotence, never stands still. It continues to tick and soon will strike the hour that will see a millions of free men rise up with freemen's ballots and sway the syndicate from their pillars of power and the workingman will come to his own."

Churches Are Full.
The cooler weather Sunday found the churches crowded, nearly every service being well attended. Many of the pastors who have been spending their summer vacations have returned and are ready to take up the fall work.

Thirteen members were admitted to membership at the First Baptist church at which communion services were held during the morning worship. Rev. Charles A. Decker talked on the subject, "God's Plan of Progress." He took his text from Zechariah, IV-6.

He pointed out that armies, police and hosts of men have been called upon to win the battles of God, and to a certain extent have been successful, but the results he said were not the kind that Jesus would approve.

"The movements, efforts and agencies of righteousness have been at work to advance the interests of the church for centuries and yet we can not feel but that we are not much better off than we were before these happened."

"It is only when a revival takes place, like South Bend has just felt, that we witness the true approval of God in the tactics which He would have us use. After such a revival the church is really benefited."

In the evening he used "Jesus the Way" as his subject. Arrangements are being made by the church and Sunday school to hold the annual Rally day program next Sunday. A special effort is being made to invite all the old members and Sunday school scholars.

Honeywell at Grace.
Rev. L. C. Honeywell, of Oak Park, Ill., delivered the sermon at the Grace M. E. church in the morning. Dr. Honeywell completed a big revival campaign at Walkerton last winter getting big results.

He will begin campaign work the last of the month at Harrington, Kansas, and later will go to Troy, O., for a five weeks campaign. For several years he has been ministering to "Billy" Sunday party. He talked Sunday morning on the subject, "The Gospel of Powers." In the evening he spoke at Walkerton to an open air gathering.

Pointing to the powers of the gospel he said in his morning sermon: "Great results are seen in the words of Christ who only lived a short period, yet for centuries it has gone down as lessons for history. Other noted Biblical characters lives have shown a great power through the truths brought forth."

He pointed out that everything found in the Bible was true and showed the power of this truth. He said that infidelity is a murderous hand that reaches up through the smoke of the pit to blast, blight, curse, damn and destroy.

"Show me the universities, the hospitals, the homes for aged people, or any other good work being done, being supported or has been constructed by an infidel," said he earnestly hammering on the pulpit stand in much the manner used by the big evangelist last spring.

He pointed out that the gospel has figured largely in changing the lives of some of our great men.

"We don't have the same spirit of divine powers as we used to have," said he, pointing to the spirit with which Paul, Christ, Stevens and other Biblical characters met their death. In vivid word pictures he painted the agonies faced by each of these characters when mobs tortured and beat them, yet even then he said the prisoners prayed for his tormentors.

St. Paul M. E.
Returning from his vacation spent in Michigan, Rev. James L. Gardiner pastor of St. Paul's M. E. church delivered a sermon Sunday morning on the subject, "The Supreme Struggle of Christ." The meetings both in the morning and evening were especially well attended. Music at both services was extraordinarily well rendered.

Rev. Mr. Gardiner took his text from St. Luke, IV, 1-15, where Christ meets with the temptations of the devil during his forty days of fasting in the wilderness.

He pointed out how Jesus met each offer of the devil with an answer taken from some part of the Bible, and how He was able to resist the temptations. After the days of fasting, Rev. Mr. Gardiner said that Jesus came out of the wilderness with the Spirit of God still resting upon Him.

The pastor urged emphatically that every one read the Bible most energetically, as at times of temptation they will then be acquainted with His books and be able to turn from temptation. He said that no temptation would be placed on a person that that person could not resist, and he pointed to the Bible as the book which gave the only and best ways of escaping the snares of the devil.

In the evening he talked on the subject, "Saints in the Devil's Palace."

Rev. Thomas J. Parsons of Chicago, who recently accepted a call to take the pulpit at the Quincy Ave. Baptist church, was able to preach at the church, Sunday. He will begin his duties as pastor next Sunday. Since the vacancy made by Rev. T. W. Powell, who is now doing supply work in Ohio, the church has been making every effort to get Rev. Mr. Parsons to accept the call. He will move to the city, bringing his family, later in the month.

Praises Calling.
For his morning sermon Rev. Mr.

Parsons used the subject, "A Minister's Estimate of His Calling." He said in part:

"The gospel ministry is the noblest calling on earth, because of its divine origin, because of the needs of human souls, and because of the great results attained."

"The minister of the gospel needs ample preparation for his calling. The greatest culture is heart culture and he needs to have a strong convictions and the courage to preach his convictions. The essence of the preacher's message is
